Scholarship Awards

To Be Announced on April 21, 2022

March 25, 2022 – In spite of the disruption caused by the COVID pandemic, the California Fashion Foundation continues its annual Scholarship Award program honoring future fashion design innovators.

As in all past years, funds for this year's $1000 award to the participating schools will come from industry donations, and each award will be in the name of the donor. A CFF committee will select one winner from each participating school.

Invitations have been extended to the participating fashion design programs of: Art Center College of Design, Cal Poly Pomona, California State University-Northridge, California State University-Long Beach, El Camino College, Fashion Institute of Design & Merchandising, Fullerton Community College, Long Beach City College, Los Angeles Trade Technical College, Mt San Antonio College, Otis College of Art & Design, Pasadena College, Santa Monica College, Woodbury University.

“Fashion and Technology – Examining the Future!”

“The presentation that Ilse Metchek did for us, Fashion and Technology, was really focused on the areas our students are working on. It was so clear and well research and we love that CFA does these presentations customized to our needs for innovation trends in the fashion and consumer products industries.”

- Justine Parish, Associate Professor & Director of Sewing Lab

“Fashion and Technology – Examining the Future!”

“It is always a fantastic opportunity for our students to be part of a workshop with Ilse Metchek. She has her finger on the pulse of the industry and what is happening, and more importantly, what we can expect in the future.”

- Jill Zeleznik, Fashion Design Department Chair

“Fashion and Technology – Examining the Future!”

“There is nothing that compares with being presented an intelligent and clear prospectus on the future of the art, technology and business of fashion - especially during the most volatile of times - from a source who tells the unbiased truth for our students to succeed. If she had a Netflix series, we all would be binge-watching!”

- Lorrie Ivas, Associate Professor, Business/Retail/Fashion
