

Your INDUSTRY in ACTION

March 12, 2020

The Industry organizations below, including the CFA, have circulated a letter to the Administration asking for immediate retroactive tariff relief in light of COVID-19.

The current draft letter, addressed to Larry Kudlow, will also be addressed to the President.

The Honorable Larry Kudlow
Director, National Economic Council
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. Kudlow:

We understand the Administration is considering a range of policy options to provide fast relief to offset the grave economic damage that is occurring as a result of the COVID-19 outbreak.

We respectfully and urgently request the immediate elimination of tariffs imposed under Section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974 and retroactive refund of duties imposed on U.S. imports of consumer and commercial products from China – such as travel goods, clothing, footwear, headwear, accessories, furniture, building products, baby products, textiles, and back to school items – be implemented as part of this emergency response.

We can think of no other policy tool at the Administration's disposal that would have such a fast and beneficial impact as the immediate and retroactive removal of these tariffs.

Such a move would instantly put billions of dollars back into the U.S. economy. This action also would provide certainty to American companies and encourage new hiring and new investment – moves that are now on hold given the unprecedented uncertainty facing the U.S. economy. American consumers would also see benefits given that these tariffs act as a tax that often show up at retail in the form of higher prices. The lifting of these tariffs also requires no congressional action.

Thank you for your consideration of our views.

Sincerely,
